Legislation Itself Cannot Destroy Weeds, Declares Board of Trade Speaker

Problem Should Be Dealt With Strenuously Says Representative of Field Crops Branch of Department of Agriculture—Winners in Membership Campaign Named

The Wetaskiwin Board of Trade held a very interesting and instructive meeting on Monday evening, the speaker being Mr. Grey of the Field Crops branch of the Department of Agriculture. At the outset, Mr. Grey stated that the weed problem was a very natural one, and should be dealt with strenuously. Legislation could not eradicate the weed, and it must be handled by the dirt farmer on the farm. Figures had been published purporting to be the losses sustained by weeds, but the speaker was of the opinion that the losses could not be accurately estimated. After going carefully into the matter, the Department ascertained that in the 1928 crop there were 180 train loads of 60 cars each of screenings shipped to the terminal elevators. This represented the loss of approximately $3,250,000. Today the old farm in Alberta is being abandoned on account of the weed menace, and the situation is so serious that it is impossible to get seed without weeds. Mr. Grey then cited the natural cause of weeds, which was sowing grains which mature at the same time as the weeds, instead of going into diversified farming. The real cure lies in raising old crops and getting away from the regular routine.

In this way, the weeds are smothered, but this cannot always be accomplished in one season. The progress of control rests almost entirely with the Provincial government, but the Federal government gives some assistance when required. The natural resources council has set up machinery which is experimenting with chemical destroyers and these experiments are being watched with interest. Sheep are also good weed exterminators. The Noxious Weed Act is very strict and is intended to protect the good farmer as against the poor farmer in respect to the weeds. The sixteen weed inspectors in Alberta are preparing charts showing the weeds in each township. In speaking of the sow thistle, the speaker stated that it must be cleaned up or it will clean up the farmer. In dealing with twitch, it should not be disced as it broke up the roots, and each root was capable of growth. Mr. Grey illustrated his lecture with lantern slides, which proved very good and instructive.

President W. Frest who presided, announced that the membership campaign had been won by Theo. Torsen, who turned in the largest number of members for the current year, while the prize offered to the country member for bringing in the largest membership was given to B. S. Walin. The Board of Trade now has 196 paid up members.

Mr. Frest announced that the Municipal Hospital vote would likely take place early in August, and as the Board had endorsed this scheme, he asked the members to get out and work and support it.

The managers of the Angus Ridge hall extended an invitation to the members of the Board of Trade and their wives to hold a meeting in their hall on Monday, July 7th. This was unanimously accepted.

Stewart Campbell rendered a couple of solos which were greatly appreciated. Mrs. C. B. McMurdo was the accompanist.

TAR, FEATHERING PRELIMINARY HELD

Red Deer, June 2.—Dismissal of the charge against Ole Boode, and the sending up of Claude Rowe, Ralph Mowbray and Walter Butlin for trial at the Fall court sessions in Red Deer on charges of "forcibly seizing and confining" Fred Paul Dohertsen, under Section 237 (b) of the Criminal Code, were the decisions handed down Saturday at a preliminary hearing in the Court House, Red Deer, before Magistrate H. G. Scott. The decisions marked the end of the first round of the investigations regarding the alleged tarring and feathering of Dohertsen near Blackfalds during the night of May 21, said at first to have been the work of the "Klu Klux Klan."

Ponoka, Alta., June 2.—P. Rasmussen of Ponoka died of a heart attack last night. Employed at Skinner and Wilkinson's garage, Rasmussen was just about to leave on a trip when he suddenly collapsed, expiring before medical aid arrived. Death was due to a heart attack. His wife arrived in Edmonton from Denmark last Wednesday.

The friends of Alex P. Ewart, returning officer for this constituency, regret to learn that he was taken ill last week and went to a hospital in Edmonton for examination and treatment. Latest reports are that he is much improved.

Many of the citizens have suspected for some time that the water being supplied to the city has been contaminated or is impure. This has not proved to be the case, as samples secured to the government analyst from time to time have been reported as being free from impurities.

Rev. J. K. Allen of Westlock, a former minister of the Presbyterian Church here, spent the week-end in town visiting his daughter, Miss Allen, of that public school teaching staff, and he preached in the United Church on Sunday morning. The evening service in the United Church was taken by the Rev. Mr. Olafson of Magrath.

The many friends of Vic Thompson are glad to know that he is convalescing rapidly after an operation for appendicitis, which was performed in the Wetaskiwin hospital a few days ago. Mr. Thompson was at North Pigeon Lake when he was taken ill, and he was rushed to the hospital where the operation was performed shortly after his arrival.

Nomination day for the Provincial election takes place in the U.F.A. hall on Monday next from noon until 2 o'clock, when no doubt the names of H. J. Montgomery, the Liberal candidate and B. E. Sparks, the U.F.A. candidate, will be officially placed in nomination. It is not likely a third candidate will be placed in the field for this election.

There will be no services in Zion Lutheran Church on Pentecost Monday, as a number of the members, including the pastor and wife, are attending the services being held at Concordia College, Edmonton, on that date. After the services, everyone will inspect the fine buildings and grounds. Games and athletic competitions are on the program for the afternoon, and before returning to Wetaskiwin, many intend to take in also the evening entertainment to be given at the National hall, 109th St. by the students of Concordia college and some of the young people of Wetaskiwin and other districts.

BANQUET CLOSES SEASON OF A.Y.P.A.

The Wetaskiwin branch of the Anglican Young People's Association closed their season (1929-30) with a banquet held at the residence of Rev. P. C. Wade, on Tuesday, May 27th.

After a delightful dinner, the members indulged in a little community singing. Toasts were proposed to the King, the Church, the A.Y.P.A., and the ladies, by Mr. F. Kibbey, Miss Davies, Mr. J. L. Hawkey and Mr. B. W. Johnson.

Miss M. Robinson, on behalf of the A.Y.P.A., welcomed Mr. Anderson to Wetaskiwin, who has taken over Rev. Wade's duties in Ponoka for a short time.

The president, Mr. F. Kibbey, was presented with a pencil by the members for his invaluable services to the association.

The president first called upon Miss K. Barker to sing two songs and then the A.Y.P.A. quartette, both of which were very well appreciated.

The remainder of the evening was spent in community singing and playing some very amusing games.

Michael Kostich, 52, hurled himself into the Niagara just above the cataraact and was swept over the falls.

LIBERALS HAD SAFE MAJORITY IN PARLIAMENT

Ottawa, June 2.—The House of Commons, which has just been dissolved, contained many groups and the dividing lines in some cases were more or less indefinite. It is therefore difficult to give an accurate lineup of the parties. On the right of the Speaker sat 134 members. Two of these were definitely independents, A. W. Neil, Comox-Alberni, and Henri Bourassa, Labelle. The remaining 132 gave for the most part undivided support to the government during the life of the parliament. They were usually defined as 123 Liberals and nine Liberal Progressives.

The nine Liberal Progressives are John Brown, Edgar James Steadman, Souris; W. J. Lovie, Macdonald; John Miller, Qu'Appelle; W. J. Ward, Dauphin; J. A. Glenn, Marquette; Robert Milne, Neepawa.

To the left of the Speaker sat 111 members, of whom 90 were Conservatives, 11 United Farmers of Alberta, seven Progressives, and three Labor. This included in the Progressive list: John Evans, Rosetown; M. N. Campbell, Mackenzie; A. N. Carmichael, Kenderley; W. R. Fausch, Last Mountain; B. W. Fausch, Last Mountain; Miss Agnes MacPhail, South-east Grey; and T. W. Eldred, Nelson.

Divided as above, the standing would be:

Liberals	123
Liberal Progressives	9
Conservatives	90
U. F. A.	11
Progressives	7
Labor	3
Independent	2

CAMROSE HOTEL MAN DIES-FRIDAY

Camrose, Alta., June 2.—V. Matejka, widely known in Alberta among the travelling public as the owner of the Camrose Hotel, died here at St. Mary's hospital Friday afternoon. Although not falling ill for some time, his illness assumed an alarming condition only a few days before his death. His death came as a shock to the town, where his wife, Mrs. Matejka, was his only friend. His funeral was held on Monday.

Mr. Matejka was a former resident of Wetaskiwin, having built the Prince of Wales hotel, which he managed for some time prior to going to Camrose.

Owing to the shortage of business it was agreed that the business tax be cancelled on all livery barns in the City and that they be assessed a rate of $25.00 a year.

It was agreed that a small park be laid out at the corner of Thelus and Rosseroll streets.

W. E. Zink, C.E., submitted a detailed report of the work he is doing in the city and made several recommendations.

It was unanimously agreed that sufficient land be purchased from Stewart Campbell, east of the Wetaskiwin cemetery, for cemetery purposes, as provided for by agreement of sale dated December 1928.

The Old Age Pensions Board, Edmonton, wrote advising the Council that Mrs. Lobenstein had made application for relief and that as she had apparently been a resident of Wetaskiwin for twenty-three years, that Wetaskiwin would be liable for relief.

After several minor matters were disposed of, the meeting adjourned.

Departmental exams commence on June 16th for all High School pupils. The Grade VIII. exams will commence on June 23rd.

CORRECTION

In our last issue, an error occurred in referring to the voluntary reduction in domestic rates by the Calgary Power Company. We stated that a reduction had been made from 3c per kWh to 2c per kWh to all those using over 150 kWh. This should have read from 50 to 200 kWh per month, the rate over 200 kWh being 1½c.

A voluntary reduction has also been made in the commercial rate. After the first 100 hours up to 300 hours per month, the rate is now 2c per kWh instead of 3c. The rate over 300 hours is 1½c.

RUSSIA PLANS WHEAT FARMS VAST EXTENT

Ottawa, Ont., June 2.—Tremendous competition which Canada may face in the future on the world's grain markets is suggested in plans outlined by a party of Russian scientists now studying agricultural methods in this country.

Headed by A. D. Meteloff, a civil engineer and vice-president of the great Russian grain trust, the mission reached Ottawa a few days ago from New York, where they landed three weeks ago. They have visited various branches of the department of agriculture and the Dominion bureau of statistics. They will visit many of the larger centres of the Dominion and will remain in the wheat growing districts of the prairie provinces until the 1930 crop is harvested.

Agricultural development on an enormous scale is already under way in Russia, Mr. Meteloff indicated, and farms of 100,000 acres are being put into cultivation. The party is particularly interested in mechanical methods used in connection with farming in Canada.

Members of the party were reluctant to discuss matters of international politics. They explained they were business men and scientists whose only errand in Canada was to gain information and to co-operate with experts in the Dominion along lines mutually beneficial.

"The use of mechanical methods in grain growing in Canada has particularly impressed us," Mr. Meteloff continued. "As we represent the largest grain growing corporation in Russia, our experimental work is conducted on a large scale, farms of 100,000 acres and upwards, for this purpose being located in various parts of the country, except in the extreme north."

"On these farms the work is conducted by the highest qualified technical and scientific staffs obtainable and with a full quota of the most modern machinery. The objects are to provide our farmers with various kinds of selected grains most suitable to the respective districts and to supply our inland grain requirements. The demand for such grain was increased enormously owing to the great increase in our population."

In regard to last year's grain crop in Russia, members of the mission said that it had come up to expectation in most districts and had been "sufficient for the needs of the population."

WIDOWER PASSES AS DEAD WIFE'S FLOWERS BLOOM

Sawnes, England, June 2.—The weird blossoming of a dead woman's flowers has furnished the town of Sawnes with a mystery which seems destined never to be solved. The story is told as follows:

Several years ago, Mrs. Alfred Jeffs a prominent resident, died suddenly. She had been fond of flowers, especially lilies. Immediately after her death, several white lilies in her garden suddenly stopped blooming. Her husband gave them to a gardener, who tended them carefully, but they remained barren and flowerless.

A few days ago, the plants bloomed again, as suddenly as they had ceased flowering. The flowers, however, instead of being white, were a deep crimson.

The gardener, amazed by the sudden change, hurried to tell Jeffs. When he arrived at the house he found Jeffs had died the same day.

APPEAL IS DISMISSED

At Wetaskiwin on the 4th inst., the appeal of Andrew Frederick Pyrcz was heard by His Honor Judge Lees. The charge, on which he had been previously convicted by Police Magistrate Williams at Leduc, was that he had on the 15th of March last, driven a motor vehicle on a public highway, at Leduc, while in an intoxicated condition, contrary to Section 235 (4) of the Criminal Code.

This was a second conviction on a similar charge. Magistrate Williams found the accused guilty and sentenced him to thirty days in goal. From this decision the accused appealed. The appeal was dismissed by His Honor Judge Lees, and the conviction was sustained. N. D. McLean, K.C., of Edmonton, appeared for the accused. W. H. Odell, K.C., appeared for the Crown.

RECITAL GIVEN BY MRS. CONDIE'S PUPILS

A recital by the pupils of Mrs. C. Condie was held in the Lutheran Church on Wednesday evening, May 28th, at which the parents and a few friends were present. Rev. Asper was chairman. Mrs. Condie played two violin solos accompanied on the piano by Miss Marjorie Robinson. After the program, Miss Rhoda Cook presented Mrs. Condie with a beautiful bouquet of flowers, a gift from the pupils. Great credit is due Mrs. Condie for the efficient manner in which the pupils performed. A very delightful luncheon was served after the recital.

Ottawa, May 29.—The government bill to relieve all soldier settlers of 30 per cent of their indebtedness to the government, was passed by a committee today without amendment. The bill was drafted by a special committee of the House of Commons during the present session.

Under it the 12,000 soldier settlers in Canada will be relieved of capital indebtedness amounting to about $11,000,000. The total amount owing the government under the scheme was set at $38,000, and Hon. Charles Stewart, under whose department falls the administration of the act, said he was reasonably satisfied payment would be made of the remaining $27,000,000.

SUNDAY SPORT

This is the season when all active youths turn their attention to healthful sports and athletic competitions. The urge to be on "the move" is apparently irresistible. Even older, staid folk respond to the pings of Pan and on fine days—mostly Sundays—find themselves among the motley crew who "just had to go out somewhere." And this is as it should be. Perhaps there is no other day than Sunday when one can really find the complete sense of satisfaction derived from calm contemplation of the beauties of nature, the song of the birds, the hush of the countryside. It is, then, it seems, the peace and calm of the Eternal Spirit broods over all, soothing poignant memories, calming troubled hearts, healing broken, wounded souls. Rich indeed is he who can draw from the well-springs of nature the abundant blessings of spiritual rejuvenation, and thrice blessed is he who can find peace and contentment in the midst of Nature's caprices. Unfortunately, there is a modern tendency to continue the hustle and bustle of commercial life into the Sabbath. The pursuit of pleasure goes on unabated, unchecked. We richly deserve the severe indictment of India's philosopher, Rabindranath Tagore, who visited these shores last year. We are emotionally geared too high and burn the flames of life too bright. Lunacy and suicidal mania is increasing in numbers and intensity. We need to be saved from ourselves.

A step in the right direction is the observance of Sunday as a holy day. Far be it from us to desire the return of the days of melancholy puritanism, or to the mid-Victorian era with its uncomfortable horse-hair sofas and prudish notions. We strongly believe in the wholesome of smiles and the spontaneous laughter of children and light-hearted people, and find no sin in being supremely happy. For to be happy is to be good. No normal being doing an evil deed can be happy. The small still voice of conscience whispers to the erring one and laughter is denied whilst it speaks. But happiness can be found otherwise, than in mad gallivanting to hither and thither, or in shattering the calm of the countryside with raucous shouts of encouragement to baseball players on Sundays. There is a definite relation between spiritual and material well-being. A godless people cannot prosper. Let us walk closer with God and leave the harvest in His hands.—Hanna Herald.

Noted Speaker Coming Here at the Chautauqua

Henry Black Burns to Give His Timely Lecture "Where Criminals Come From"

Dr. Henry Black Burns, noted specialist on criminology who has been secured to speak here at the coming Canadian Chautauqua, discusses one of the most interesting subjects before the public today—the problem of the criminal-minded and the researches that are being made toward discovering a cure for criminal tendencies.

What is the psychology of a criminal? What makes a man turn a perhaps, brilliant mentality to the pursuit of activities beyond the law? Is the criminal a man in the clutches of some mental or physical disease—and can he be healed? Is divorce a symptom of some subtle malady in the present-day social system? These are some of the salient points of Doctor Burns' vital lecture "Where Criminals Come From."

Noted judges and lawyers throughout the continent have enthusiastically endorsed the work Doctor Burns is doing in criminal investigation. Civic clubs and educational institutions have called him to their communities time and time again.

Although Doctor Burns deals with facts—with symptoms and causes—he is himself so genial and witty that his lecture is intensely entertaining as well as mentally stimulating. Not only is he a recognized authority on criminology, but he is a magazine writer and poet as well and brings a ripe scholarship, a sparkling humor and a warm heart to his lecture work.

JAPANESE FARMER WRITES TO PETER EDGBERG CATTLE

Alfred Peterson, of Edberg, has just received a letter from K. Kano, Shizuoka, Japan, to whom some purchased cattle was recently shipped by the Alberta Government, the department of agriculture having purchased the cattle from Mr. Peterson some time ago. Mr. Kano states in his letter he is highly pleased with the shipment. "They are great producers and I would enjoy seeing the rest of your herd," writes Mr. Kano. Mr. Peterson, in a letter to the Canadian, also says he has been shipping table cream to Edmonton for the past month and getting a premium of 10¢ cents on the special grade, which would seem to indicate that all the quality producing cows of this Edberg farmer have certainly not been shipped to Japan.

Another record production is reported by Mr. Peterson. One of his best cows freshened a few days ago and one day's production amounted to 87½ pounds of milk. Last year this same cow produced (when a five-year-old) 16,245.2 pounds of milk, with an average test of 3.70 butterfat in 306 days. Some record!—Camrose Canadian.

NOT IMPORTANT

(By Walt Mason)
The great man runs his brilliant race, and dies at the appointed time; some other fellow takes his place before the deathbells cease their chime. The great man wondered as he wrought just what would happen when he died; he feared the town would be distraught, its business tangled up and tied. Oh, who could wear the great man's shoes, and who could wear the great man's hat? The great man often had the blues from thinking over things like that. But when he soared to realms afar, all done with life's exciting game, the village never knew a jar, and things moved onward just the same. For fountain pens. An Alexander loops seven days, or eight, or nine, we the loops, there's sorrow in the souls of men; but soon they wouldn't give him eulogies were 'truly fine, and now three whoops to have the hero backside dead and fled away. The world and then we shed a tear. But time again. A Caesar falls just when he plans to do big, gorgeous things for Rome; he's stricken down by also runs - immortalized in Shakespeare's poem. The Roman heart then feels like lead; there's crepe on every Roman door; but Rome goes on, with Caesar dead, just as it went six months before. The great men come and do their stuff, and if they're wise they will not say the world will find the sledding rough when they dead and fled and fled away. The world moves on, severe and dour, no matter what the great men do; it mourns their passing for an hour, then looks around for something new.

OUR OTTAWA LETTER

(By Wm. Irvine, M.P.)

The business of the House is being rushed through under high pressure. It is expected that Parliament will be dissolved toward the end of next week. This will therefore be my last letter for this Session, and I desire to thank the Editor for having granted me the medium of his columns.

The motion by Mr. Gardiner to adjourn the House to discuss the Beauharnois Light, Heat and Power Company was the outstanding feature of the week, and somewhat of a relief from the tedious monotony of routine. Briefly, Mr. Gardiner charged that in passing an Order-in-Council granting to the Beauharnois Company the right to use a portion of the St. Lawrence River for the development of power, the Government had ignored the recommendation of the Joint Board of Engineers made in their report of November 16th, 1926, as "financial brigandage" by which the point of that report was that the navigational and power development societies had succeeded in gathering should be undertaken together, so to themselves in cash and securities that the income from power would be about one hundred and four millions pay for the deepening and improving of the river for navigation. It was further charged that the Company had proceeded to develop and finance a project which had in view the entire power resources of this section of the river, whereas the Order-in-Council permitted them the use of only 40,000 cubic feet of water per second, or about one-fifth of the river power at this point. Mr. Gardiner contended that in thus exceeding the specified limitation of the Order-in-Council the Company was either fraudulent in its intentions or it had a secret understanding that all power rights would ultimately be granted. Upon this ground the cancellation of the Order-in-Council was urged. Then Mr. Gardiner outlined the financial structure of the Company—later described by Mr. Garland in his report of November 16th, 1926, as "financial brigandage"—by which the point of that report was that the navigational and power development societies had succeeded in gathering should be undertaken together, so to themselves in cash and securities that the income from power would be about one hundred and four millions

Popular Play "Pollyanna" Coming to Canadian Chautauqua

SCENE FROM "POLLYANNA"

One of the most inspiring plays ever written is "Pollyanna," which comes to the Canadian Chautauqua here this season. Based on Eleanor Porter's famous novel by the same name, this captivating comedy-drama possesses a certain whimsical charm that reminds one of Barrie's beautiful plays. A well-known critic says: "Pollyanna" is one of those rare plays which are likely to become institutions of the stage like "Peter Pan."

"Pollyanna" abounds in fun and humor. There is not a dull moment in the four acts through which the lovable little heroine pursues her way, spreading her philosophy of gladness and winning the hearts of all whom she meets. It will be presented here by the Martin Erwin Players of Canada.

of dollars. This manipulation involved an enormous over-capitalization. The entire project could be completed for fifty million, while the capitalization now stands at three hundred and eighty millions.

Mr. Gardiner quoted a letter from Mr. Sweezy in which he emphasized the importance to the Company of securing political influence in Ottawa and Quebec. Suspicion in this connection is awakened when it is known that one of the "dummy" companies, necessary in Mr. Sweezy's juggling was organized by a lawyers firm in which prominent Liberals are to be found and notably among others, Mr. Hayden, National Organizer of the Liberal party. And when it is further taken into account that Mr. McDonald, a Liberal Senator, is one of the three "Share Directors" of the Company, most people will be inclined to believe that the Company secured the kind of as well as the quantity of political influence which Mr. Sweezy referred to in his letter quoted by Mr. Gardiner.

What did this political influence cost? Did the Liberal party secure its election funds in return for the influence and privileges supplied? Or did the Company make doubly sure by obtaining influence also from the Conservative party? All that we know is that the necessary influence was supplied, that the Company promoters got one hundred and four millions of dollars, and that the political parties are able to finance the election.

The Government found it necessary to bring Honourable Mr. Cannon, the Solicitor General, to its defence. Mr. Cannon is the ablest defender of his party in matters of this kind. He is so clever that he can conclusively prove the innocence of the Government of any charge. His method is to demonstrate innocence in respect to charges that have not been made, while subtly leaving the impression that the charges which were not made, were the charges which were made. In other words, Mr. Cannon's method might be illustrated in this way. A man is charged with stealing a dollar. He is charged forthwith that the defendant had not stolen a cow, and then argues that the man who had not stolen a cow surely would not steal a dollar.

Mr. Bennett suggested a judicial enquiry into the whole financial dealings of the Company. The Solicitor General twitted Mr. Bennett for having granted water power rights under similar conditions to a private company when the "Shadow Government" gave away the power of the Carillon Falls. Mr. Gardiner asked for the cancellation of the Order-in-Council. The Government argued that the power rights were in the hands of Provincial Governments, that if the officials of the Government had been fraudulent it was the duty of the Attorney General of the Province to punish them, but that in any case the Order-in-Council could not and would not be cancelled.

Thus the discussion brought no action. The power potentialities of our rivers and streams properly belong to the people, and should not be made a means of making a few rich. Moreover, cheap power is a great National asset. It may well be in the future that the economic strength of a nation will depend upon and be measured by the extent of its power resources. Cheap power for manufacturing may be of greater advantage to industry in the future than tariff protection, and would not increase the cost to the consumer. It will be clear that with an over-capitalization of three hundred and thirty millions of dollars in the Beauharnois undertaking alone, that power will not be cheap. That sum and the interest thereon must come out of the selling of power. The people must pay it ultimately in the increased cost of goods, light and heat.

It would be interesting to know what the Beauharnois Corporation gave for its privileges and to whom it was given.

BANK OF MONTREAL ISSUES STATEMENT

The half-yearly statement of the Bank of Montreal, makes a most interesting and reassuring exhibit. As is well-known, all financial and banking institutions, with business in general have had to face during the past six months the unusual conditions subsequent to the stock market crash, but it is evident from its statement that the Bank of Montreal

"A Miracle!"

Cripple now walks well thanks to Kruschen

"For over eight months I was laid up with rheumatism, unable to move, when I was advised to try Kruschen Salts. It was almost a miracle, and within a week I was able to walk. I took a bottle in a few days and was out with the help of crutches, and in a short time I was walking well. This is not a one-week testimonial, but four years."

I have taken it ever since, and I never feel a pinch of rheumatism now. I feel perfectly about it, and advise them to take it. I will close my letter hoping you will publish it for others to see.

also known that there is an increased tendency on the part of large customers to avail themselves of banking accommodation.

The statement, with its many features of strength, could hardly make its appearance at a more opportune time, and on this account the leading financial centres of the world will undoubtedly welcome the opportunity of seeing how fully this nation-wide institution has taken care of a situation involving many unusual conditions.

An ideal speech—which won in the one-minute contest at the recent Ontario W.C.T.U. Convention: "Let us make up, shake up, and stay up. Let us sing up, preach up, pray up. Let us never hark up, or give up, or let up, or shut up, until prohibition is built up."

"The source of power — "Francis Willard never lost faith in the ultimate triumph of the temperance reform. One of the chief glories of her splendid life was her unflinching and infectious optimism. Her faith in God and justice in humanity and right filled her heart with the prophecy of victory."—Bishop Bristol.

The Christian Herald would have the emphasis on the essential rightness of the prohibition policy of government rather than on the comparative degree of its enforcement. Like honesty it is the best policy, but Christian men and women are not fighting for it merely because it is a good policy, but because there is no other position to take towards the greatest organized social evil in the world, and because prohibition is right in every way, morally, socially, economically and politically, it cannot fail to win the complete and perfect ultimate victory. In the degree that the Churches and the people of the Churches enlist in this struggle that victory will be hastened.

"If the slave trade made Jefferson tremble for his country when he reflected that God is just and that His justice will not slumber forever, how can we look upon the liquor business now rampant in Canada. Jefferson's country was finally deluged in blood when God's justice did awake, but let us trust that it will not come to that in Canada."—N.B. Temperance Bulletin.

"The Board of Evangelism and Social Service of the United Church will submit a three-fold policy on temperance to the General Council meeting in September, along three lines. First, the duty of the Church to promote total abstinence by individuals; second, the duty of the government to seek legislation prohibition and actual elimination of the liquor traffic, and the immediate responsibility of Church and State to conduct temperance education."—New Outlook.

The Literary Digest recently proposed to poll twenty million votes on the prohibition question, which was considered a piece of clever wet propaganda, in connection with a circulation stunt. Less than 5,000,000 ballots were returned and less than 2,000,000 voted for the repeal.

They are packed in covering cases of substantial dimensions and, since there 3,500 boxes, each filled with an assortment of voting material, the sum total shipment is a sizable affair.

RAPID PROGRESS CAMROSE-DAYSLAND HIGHWAY GRADING

Work on grading of the highway between Camrose and Daysland is progressing in a satisfactory manner. Several gangs are engaged and the weather has been ideal for this kind of work. A large number of teams are now working on the road immediately adjoining the eastern boundary of the town. As there are very few heavy fills or deep cuts between here and Daysland, the work will make rapid progress, and its completion should only be a matter of a few weeks.—Canadian.

POLICE AND JOBLESS BATTLE IN CALGARY

Calgary, June 2.—Police and unemployed, led by Communists, battled here Saturday for a short time as the jobless attempted to parade without a permit.

Two policemen were injured and eleven Communists, including Joseph L. Ferby, their provincial organizer, were arrested and held without bail on charges of unlawful assembly.

Police reserves were called to quell the disturbance.

Intimation that a parade would be attempted at 5:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon, reached Chief Constable David Ritchie, Friday afternoon. Saturday afternoon the reserves were called out in case of emergency and were held at headquarters.

On Saturday after the leaders had addressed a crowd of several hundred unemployed on a vacant lot opposite the employment office, Sixth avenue and Second street East, a parade was attempted.

They were stopped by Chief Ritchie and Inspector Cougler. They were told that they could not parade without a permit.

Leaders of the crowd held pieces of lumber on which paste-board banners had been tacked. With these it is alleged, they started to fight the police.

Part of the reserves from headquarters, a block away, came on the run and assisted in quelling the mob. Biffles were drawn for the second time within a month in the same kind of a disturbance.

IT'S MY STOMACH

Food plays an important part in the securing and maintaining of health. We are told that we should eat to live and not live to eat, which is one way of saying that we should not eat to excess. In addition to avoiding excess, it should be taken into consideration that the body demands a well-balanced diet which will include milk and milk products, fresh, green vegetables and fruits.

Proper food and proper digestion are of an importance that cannot be overemphasized. The stomach does its work day after day and does not very often fail to do so. It stands a fair amount of abuse without protest, and, as long as it does its work without attracting attention, we do not give much thought to this important organ.

Pain or discomfort in any part of the abdomen is sign that it is being the stomach, which is then said to be upset. Very often, the last thing eaten is thought to have disagreed with the stomach.

When there is discomfort or pain in the region of the stomach, there is something wrong, but it certainly does not mean that the stomach is necessarily responsible. Abnormal and diseased conditions of the stomach do occur, but most of the distress blamed on that organ is not caused primarily by the stomach.

Worry, nervous strain and anxiety are real causes of pain occurring in the upper part of the abdomen. The business man who works under tension, who hurries through his lunch, and who does not take time to relax, may expect to have an upset stomach.

The onset of many of the acute diseases is accompanied by loss of appetite, nausea and sometimes vomiting. In such cases, the stomach, as one organ of the body, is affected by a general disease of the whole body.

Heart disease may mean that the supply of blood to the stomach is not sufficient to allow the stomach to do its work properly. As a result, it is difficult for the organ to digest foods which require a comfortable time for the process. Under such circumstances, the use of foods which are difficult to digest may be followed by distress, but the heart, and not the stomach, is really to blame.

When the stomach goes on the rampage, we should not think so much of the last thing eaten as being the cause, but rather consider this as a symptom of some condition which requires attention.

The stomach should not be abused. It is not to be expected that foods and beverages can be used indiscriminately without causing trouble in the organ which is overburdened as a result of such carelessness.

Questions concerning Health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College St., Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

BASEBALL LEAGUE HAS BEEN FORMED

A baseball league was organized a few days ago, which will include teams representing Lacombe, Ponoka, Hobbema and Wetaskiwin. The first game on the home diamond will be played Thursday evening of this week at 6:30 with Hobbema as the opponents. Judging from the results of the games played so far, this season, the four teams are very evenly matched, and no doubt many good games will be played this season.

PONOKA HIGH WINS CLOSE BASKETBALL GAME

The Ponoka High School girls' basketball team met the Wetaskiwin High at Wetaskiwin last Friday, in a keenly fought contest.

The Ponoka players were obliged to extend themselves to the limit to hold the 8-5 lead they had established in the first period.

The second period was Ponoka's best, while the third period was evenly divided at two all.

In the last period the Wetaskiwin team opened up a brand of passing attack and their larger opponents completely outguessed, outscoring them 5 to 2 in this period. The final score was 22 to 16.

The lineups were:

Wetaskiwin—Margaret Inglis, centre; Iona Hansen, Betty Dickson, forwards; Evelyn Beavo, Minnie Rupert, guards; subs, M. Gable, M. Dixon.

PONOKA WINS FROM ATHLETICS THURSDAY

Poor judgment on bases was responsible for the home team losing to Ponoka on Thursday evening, May 29th, on the short end of a 2 to 3 score. Greiner, the first to bat in the 7th inning, managed to reach 3rd on a nice hit off his own and another hit off Thirk's bat, and could easily have made home on Stoddard's error. Stoddard, after catching Overn out on a high foul fly, deliberately grounded the ball past the pitcher and through the infield, but unfortunately for us neither the coach nor the base runner on 3rd sized the situation up quickly enough to take advantage of it, so that's that. Bruce Thirk was the boy who fattened his batting average in this game, he is credited with four hits and the only two scores made, placing him first of either team in batting average; his kid brother was a close contender however, he was able to beat Ferguson's artfulness three times out of four for bases. The kid's defence of the initial score is nothing less than marvelous, and seems to be appreciated from the bleachers, from the hand they give him.

Athletics—B. Thirk, ss; Farnham, 3rd; R. Aichers, 2nd; Watson, c; Farewell, p; Thirk, 1st; C. Aichers, f; Greiner, cf; T. Overn, rf.

Ponoka—Bures, ss; Lees, 3rd; Mc-Masters, 2nd; Stoddard, c; Ferguson, p; Sweet, 1st; Bond, lf; Lewis, cf; Lux, rf.

Score by innings—

ATHLETICS DEFEAT BITTERN LAKE TEAM

The baseball boys came in from Bittern Lake on Sunday afternoon and provided a very good practice game for the Athletics. Butcher on the mound for the visitors pitched a splendid game, allowing only three runs up to the 7th inning, and had it not been that it was the first game of the season for him he might have held the Athletics to a very close game all the way through, but he had to give way to Wylie on account of his arm and the balloon went up immediately.

The lineup was—

Athletics—Farewell, 3rd; Weyberg, ss; Watson, c; B. Thirk, p; Overn, rf; Greiner, cf; Thirk, 1st; Farnham, 2nd; Hodson, rf.

Bittern Lake—C. Gouchee, 3rd; W. Wylie, ss; B. Roper, c; xButcher, p; xxButcher, lf; W. Wylie, cf; LeRoy Treleven, 1st; Art Treleven, 2nd; Don Gouchee, rf.

xxRelieved by Inglis in 4th.

Umpire—Atkinson.

REFUSES TO ESTIMATE

Edmonton, June 2.—Wind damage to crops in central Alberta has been the worst in years, according to a statement made Monday morning by E. L. Gray, field crops commissioner of the province of Alberta.

Although Mr. Gray refused to make an estimate, grain experts in close touch with the situation estimate the damage to crops at from two to eight per cent. The extent of the recovery will depend upon immediate calm, warm weather with moisture.

Some re-sowing will have to be done. Crops that have been laid flat by the almost incessant heavy winds of the last week.

NEWSPAPER LAWS

Excerpts from Newspaper Law, printed for the benefit of any reader who may have mistaken ideas regarding same:

1. A postmaster is required to give notice by letter (returning the paper does not answer the laws) if the subscriber does not take the paper out of the post office and state the reason for its not being taken. Any neglect to do so makes the postmaster responsible to the publisher for payment.

2. If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrears or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made and collect the whole amount whether the paper is taken from the office or not. There can be no legal discontinuance until payment is made.

3. Any person who takes a paper from the post office, whether directed to his name or another, or whether he subscribes or not, is responsible for payment.

4. If a subscriber orders his paper stopped at a certain time and the publisher continues to send it, the subscriber is bound to pay for it if he takes it out of the post office. This follows the principle that a man must pay for what he uses.

SMALL ITEMS ARE INTERESTING READING

The small items, the locals, in a newspaper make the most interesting reading. These are the items which mean the activities of the various people of a community, and after all, readers are interested in other people, what they are doing, and how they live. What a wealth of human interest is often buried in a short item of two or three lines! What deep significance many items bear, significance that often escapes the reader, remarks the So Star. Yes, what a row two lines and a half of adverse, yet deserved, criticism will create as compared to two columns and a half of false praise.

THE HOME!

"O little homes, ye little homes of love!"

Strength of a man; a woman's song; laugh of a child;

Warmth of a fire; glow of a lamp; wild.

The wind without, and grim the skies above.

"O little homes, set close at every head!"

Ye narrow, walled-in worlds of joys and fears.

Built of the commonplace, of smiles and tears.

Ye are the heart and sinew of the land."

A TIMELY TIP

There are some people who say to themselves "I get the Times every week and it is up to me to pay for it. The editor does not get his paper for nothing, nor can he produce it for nothing." Unfortunately, this type of person is in the minority. There are a lot of people who owe The Times a small sum of money, a trifling sum that would not by any means empty their pockets or affect their spending.

There are large overhead expenses in connection with publishing a newspaper even of this size which are not clear to the understanding of the casual observer, and it is so that we can meet these heavy obligations that we wish the delinquent to meet his small one. Will you, if you are not paid in advance, please do that little act? It is a small matter to you, but it is of tremendous importance to us.

ONE PRESCRIPTION • MADE FAMILY DOCTOR FAMOUS

Seldom has any single act been of greater benefit to mankind than that of Dr. Caldwell in 1885, when he wrote the prescription which has carried his name to the four corners of the earth.

Over and over, Dr. Caldwell wrote the prescription as he found men, women and children suffering from these common symptoms of constipation, such as coated tongue, bad breath, headaches, gas, nausea, biliousness, no energy, lack of appetite, and similar things.

Demand for this prescription grew so fast, because of the pleasant quick way it relieved such symptoms of constipation, that by 1888 Dr. Caldwell was forced to have it put up ready for use. Today, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, as it is called, is always ready at any drugstore.

Hat Overboard

An overcoat and a radio seem to have few points of similarity. Yet, for all that, James Downing was undecided which to buy on that bleak November day on which he was trudging to the village. In his pocket was money enough for one of the two, but not for both. And he wanted the radio. He had been pondering much on the beauties of that machine and had paid little attention to the argument of his family that, with the coming of winter, an overcoat would be more useful to him.

Their logic he had disregarded, but today came an appeal to his common sense that he could not ignore. It was the north wind; it came swooping across barren wastes and bit through his warm outer clothing to the flesh and bone beneath. It was not merely an ordinary autumn blow, but a wind in great puffs so abrupt and powerful that at times they would force the young man over to the side of the road. He had to lean sideways to withstand the shrieking blasts.

By the time he had reached the town he had decided that the radio could wait. He bought himself a good warm ulster at once and still had money enough left to buy a felt hat that he had been needing. As it turned out, it would have been better for him had he not done so. Cramming his old cap into a pocket and wearing the new hat and coat, he left the store well satisfied with his purchases.

The gale seemed to increase in violence. It came in puff after puff, gust after gust, with a swoop and a roar—a momentary lull—and another swoop. The new coat, though it kept James warm, made walking difficult for it offered a broad target for the gale to beat and tug against. Several times he was almost thrown off his balance by sudden gusts. Moreover, his hat bothered him. It seemed larger now than it had in the store. Indeed, twice it was nearly blown off by unexpected puffs. He found it necessary to hold his head bent a little to one side so that the wind could not get under the hat brim.

So disagreeable was the day for a long walk that James decided to take the short cut by the river. The path led along a cliff that dropped off sheer from the brink for fifty feet, and then gradually merged from a glum-line precipice into a steep declivity. The upper part was a wall of stone, broken only at occasional intervals by some gnarled and sturdy tree growth that had found a foothold in some crevice of the rocks. Further down, where the slope began, were more trees of normal shape and height.

James walked on, whistling a little tune, each note of which the wind snatched and whirled off over the cliff. Far below, in midstream, a motor boat was plowing its way up-river. James thought he knew every craft in that part of the country. But he could not identify this one, though he stopped, turned, and gazed upon it. In his interest, he forgot his new hat. A gust puffed under the brim of it and whipped it from his head. It struck the ground and rolled over and over toward the cliff.

James forgot motor boat, pre-place, wind—everything but the fact that he was on the point of losing his brand-new purchase. He sprang forward after his hat. Twice he nearly had it, twice the wind twined it away. Just at the brink of the cliff over the side and he wavered as it undecided whether to wait for its owner or to spring out over the edge. James gave one last desperate leap for it, and a sudden gust whisked the hat over and away.

And that was not all. This same terrific gust struck him squarely as he was stooping forward, and threw him off his balance. For an agonizing instant he tottered, contorting himself as desperately as a novice tight-rope walker to regain his equilibrium. And he might have done it had not a second gust struck him and swept him clear over the edge. With the lower part of his coat billowing out like a parachute he fell—feet foremost—toward the deadly rocks below.

Then there came a sudden blow at the back of his neck so violent that it deprived him of his senses. When he came to himself he had a curious feeling of being nowhere. His feet rested on nothing at all; and he might have had the sense of floating in mid-air, had it not been for an intense pressure on his shoulders and the back of his neck.

The downward rush of his fall had sent his coat ballooning out. One of the stubby little trees projecting from a cliff crevice had caught under his coat, had thrust itself up between his overcoat and his neck, and had given him the blow as it checked his descent. He was not a heavy boy and the tree had held. So had the fabric of the new coat. He and the garment were caught as if by some great coat-hanger. That was why he was now dangling between the sky and earth instead of lying mangled below.

James thought that he should be able to clutch the tree, drag himself in to the face of the cliff and then clamber up or down. But when he turned his head as well as the pressure against it would permit, he saw from the tail of his eye that the face of the cliff was as smooth as marble except for the few crevices from which the tree had sprung. There was not even a toe-hold for yards in any direction. There could be no possible escape that way; and it would be of no advantage to him to cling to the tree with arms that would tire until he was forced to let go. What was more, he noticed that the sudden wrench of his checked fall had torn the tree's roots half out. Any abrupt movement on his part would finish the work. Obviously to do nothing but keep still seemed the only safe course.

The sudden thought struck him that perhaps the people in the boat which he had seen might help him. But he could not distinguish the boat anywhere on the river below. At last, far upstream, he discerned a dwindling speck on the water. He had been insensible for so long that the boat and its crew had passed far beyond his help. Nevertheless, he shouted at the top of his voice on the chance that someone above might hear. Even as he did so, he realized how vain the hope was. Hardly anyone but himself ever took the path along the cliff.

About ten feet down he saw the top and spreading branches of a tree that grew from the declivity at the foot of the cliff. He wondered if he could possibly grasp it successfully if he were to drop. The feat seemed impossible. His position was apparently without remedy and his seeming escape had turned to be really no escape at all. Unless he could be seen from some craft on the river, he might better have fallen to the rocks at once.

As he raged against a predicament that prevented him from trying to get free, a new terror struck him. It was growing dark. The shadows had been creeping on and on; already he was finding it difficult to distinguish objects at any distance. James realized that he must do something. He must drop and take the slim chance of being able to cling to a limb of the tree below as he shot down.

The three upper buttons of his coat had been buttoned when he went over the cliff and he held that was one reason why his coat had not been ripped from his back. Now, fixing his eyes on a large limb that he could see below, James managed to unfasten two of the buttons. Instantly the strain burst off the third. But instead of falling, he only sagged lower in his coat while the tug under his arms increased. As long as his arms were at his sides he could not get loose. In order to get into a position so that his weight would help to free him instead of to hold him, he must raise both arms above his head and a little bare of him. Then his weight would tend to pull him clear out of his coat. This would mean that as he fell his arms would be above his head instead of in a position to catch the limb as he shot past it. Still the thing must be done. Somehow he must manage to get his hands down quickly.

He raised both arms gradually. Now they were breast-high, now shoulder-high, now a little above his head. Then, as he strained them upward as far and as straight as he could, he suddenly slipped smoothly out of his coat and shot downward. The springing branch struck the crook of his knees. His leg held long enough to whirl him over, head downwards, and then began to slip off. But just as he started to fall again, the fingers of one hand touched the other, gripped it and held. The hand was caught, and in a moment James was stretched on the limb, panting but exultant. Eight minutes later, bruised and bleeding, he was at the foot of the tree. He clambered down the rest of the rough declivity in the dusk and, at the edge of the river at last, stumbled off toward home.

The next day James went back along the top of the cliff, carrying a stout cord with his largest fishhook on the end. Below, on his queer hanger, dangled the coat that had saved his life. After several tries he succeeded in fishing it up. Except for a slight rip it was unharmed. James wore and cherished that coat for years, in fact long after he had got his coveted radio.

"I think that the increase in unemployment has stopped in the United States and that by the time the Fall comes around, things will be much better," declared Professor Leo Wolman, of Boston, interviewed at present in the International Wage Conference at Geneva. "The worst has passed," he added, "and things are looking brighter again."

In announcing the change, E. W. Beatty, chairman and president of the railway, said: "Mr. MacInnes has been in the company's service for forty-five years and has discharged his exacting duties as freight traffic manager and as vice-president in charge of traffic with conspicuous ability and loyalty to the company's interests. By his retirement the company loses one of its ablest and most respected officers."

Canada exports more manufactured goods per head of the population than any other country in the world. The figures are: Canada, $64.80; Great Britain, $55.80; Germany, $32.68; France, $30.58; and the United States, $25.12. Thousands write of 5 to 15 lbs. gained in 3 weeks with Ironized Yeast. Bony limbs round out. Ugly hollows fill in. Bleached skin gets clear and rosy like magic. Nervousness, indigestion, constipation disappear overnight. Sound sleep. New health and pep from very first day.

Two great tonics in one—special weight-building Malt Yeast and strengthening Iron. Pleasant little tablets. Far stronger than unmedicated yeast. Results in 1/2 time. So, quit being ashamed of "skinny," "bony" or "sallow" skin. Get Ironized Yeast from druggist today. Feel great tomorrow. Money back from manufacturer if not delighted with quick results.

PUBLIC NOT CONSISTENT

This comment of the Peterborough Examiner is worthy of consideration. It says: When motoring conditions permit, most people not only travel everywhere by automobile but they ship their freight and livestock by truck, letting the railways hold the bag and carry the mail, while the business that would give them a profit goes elsewhere. And yet when these conditions result in the operation of any particular train or trains becoming too costly to be maintained, the residents of the section affected immediately set up an outcry at the service being cut off, forgetting that themselves by the diverting of business from the railways to other means of transportation, have contributed largely to the necessity of the proposed curtailment. It is too much to expect the Canadian railways to maintain service at a loss for the benefit of people who do not reciprocate.—Collingwood Bulletin.

Are You Ready

When your Children Cry for It Baby has little upsets at times. All your care cannot prevent them. But you can be prepared. Then you can do what nature expects you to do. You can give your child a few drops of plain Castoria. No sugar. No odor. No taste. And it's always ready for the crumbly pieces of cake, or constipation, or diarrhea, or colic, or too, for older children. Few people realize how often a bottle of Castoria is needed.

Headaches Were So Bad? They Kept Her Awake

Headaches seem to be habitual with some people; some are seldom, if ever, free from them, suffering continually from the dull throbbings, the intense pain, sometimes in one part, sometimes in another, and again over the whole head. There is only one way to get relief from these persistent headaches, and that is by giving to the head the trouble, for unless the cause is removed the headaches will still continue to exist, and the fact that keeps the stomach, liver and bowels toned up is proof enough to show that it will eliminate the cause of the headache. Mrs. A. M. Arsenault, New Abordene, N.S., writes:—"For a period I had been troubled with headaches and they were so bad they kept me awake at night. I was advised by a friend, after having used many kinds of medicine, to try Burdock Blood Bitters. After taking three bottles I was completely relieved, and can recommend it to be a perfect remedy." HAND IN HAND FOR

FOR HALF A CENTURY

To look back over 50 years of wedded life and to be able to say that through weal and woe all has been well, is an achievement worthy of more than ordinary mention. It was with keenest pleasure that Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Violet, of 702 13th street, reviewed the half century of life that lay between them and the 8th of May, 1930, when they plighted their marriage vows away back in the little town of Winterset, Iowa. It was with equal pleasure that the reporters listened to the reminiscences of their courtship—which it happened now, would be called a "whirlwind" affair. For Mr. Violet—then a young man of 23—met Miss Helen Currier a slip of a girl 16 years old, on March 16th, and they were married on the 8th of May following. Both are still young, the years having taken but little toll from them. Mr. Violet's hair carries only a tinge of frost and Mrs. Violet walks with the light step of a girl.

"We've seen some hard times," said Mr. Violet, "but the only serious trouble was the loss of our two oldest children. They died of scarlet fever within a few days of each other. They are both buried in the same grave in Colorado." A moment of saddened memories, then they told of how they came to Puyallup and back to Iowa.

When Food Sours

Lots of folks who think they have "indigestion" have only an acid condition which could be corrected in five or ten minutes. An effective anti-acid like Phillips Milk of Magnesia soon restores digestion to normal.

Phillips does away with all that sourness and gas right after meals. It prevents the distress so apt to occur two hours after eating. What a pleasant preparation to take! And how good it is for the system! Unlike a burning dose of soda—which is but temporary relief at best—Phillips Milk of Magnesia neutralizes many times its volume in acid.

Next time a hearty meal, or too rich a diet has brought on the least discomfort, try—

NEW YORK MAN TO DRILL TEN WELLS

At least ten wells will be sunk in the Ribstone oil field this summer by J. B. Ross, New York multi-millionaire, according to an article published in the Edmonton Journal which is stated to be based on information obtained from an authoritative source. The article states that two trains, bearing rotary drills, tools and casing are now en route from Oklahoma to McLaughlin, the south end of the field in the Ribstone field, near Lloydminster.

It is stated that drilling will be commenced with this huge mass of equipment as soon as it can be erected and the first two wells will be sunk to the oil horizon within 60 days from the starting date.

BY CAMROSE LIBERALS
FOR DOMINION CONTEST

Camrose, May 31.—In anticipation of Dominion elections Liberal delegates from all parts of the Camrose federal constituency convened in Camrose Friday afternoon to reorganize and select officers for the Camrose federal constituency Liberal association, and to select a candidate to carry the banner of Liberalism for the riding in the Dominion elections. Dr. A. E. Aunger, well known dentist of Stettler, was elected president of the association. Mrs. J. K. Burgess, Camrose, was made first vice-president, and Wm. McAthey, Viking, second vice-president. Herbert S. McGee, of Stettler, was elected secretary. An executive committee of five members will later be named by the president.

S. Westwick, of New Norway, the Liberal candidate for the Camrose provincial constituency, briefly addressed the convention before the 157 accredited delegates present selected a candidate to carry the banner of the Liberals in the forthcoming Dominion elections. Two names were placed before the convention, C. G. Purvis, barrister, of Viking, and D. R. McVior, general merchant, of Stettler. The ballot favored Mr. McVior, and Mr. Purvis immediately moved to make the nomination of the former unanimous.

Mr. McVior is not a novice in the political field. In 1926 he contested the constituency with W. T. Lucas, the present member for the riding, and by whom he was defeated by a small margin.

Arrangements have been completed whereby the arrival in Canada of the R-100, Britain's huge airliner, will be broadcast throughout Canada and the United States by the Trans-Canada Broadcasting Company and the National Broadcasting Company, according to an announcement recently made by R. W. Ashcroft, manager of the former company. The official broadcast, which includes the arrival of the ship and attendant ceremonies, will be carried from coast to coast of the Dominion over the new radio programme broadcasting transmission system of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company's telegraphs.

Welcoming the latest addition to the Canadian Pacific Railway's fleet of 19 passenger vessels on ocean and coastal service in British Columbia, Vancouver recently congratulated the railway on its initiative and foresight in building upon the west coast of Canada a service second to none, on the occasion of the arrival of the "Princess Elizabeth" at the Pacific port. The sister ship, "Princess Joan" arrived at Victoria the following day. The "Elizabeth" was welcomed by the Mayor of Vancouver.

Marking the passing of another milestone in the history of the company, the recently constructed Canadian Pacific branch line from Willington to Vegreville, a distance of about 20 miles, was declared open for traffic recently with the arrival of the first passenger train at the Vegreville station.

With a record reservation list indicating a very busy season ahead, the Banff Springs Hotel welcomed its first guests of the year May 15. Considerable improvement work has been done on the 18 hole golf course which was virtually ready for play on opening day.

Development of fruit growing on the prairies has been one of the features of agricultural progress in recent years in western Canada. Patches of native gooseberries, currants and raspberries have evolved into orchards containing many varieties of plums, cherries, apples and small fruits. The largest acreage are devoted to strawberries and raspberries.

A recent official compilation shows that farm live stock in Canada in 1929 was valued at $864,167,900 as compared with $696,472,000 in 1928. Canada's poultry population in 1929 numbered 60,899,782, valued at $63,854,000.

A forest in embryo—250 acres of jack and white pine—has been planted by the Saskatchewan forestry service in the Prairie Alberta region. H. P. Eisler, forestry engineer, states that the transplanting 2,000 nursery seedlings and stock is the largest of such programmes in the history of the province.

While the official opening of the Welland Ship Canal, constructed at a cost of $120,000,000, will not take place until next July, the northern section was unofficially opened to traffic recently when the steamer Georgian entered Lock No. 1 from Port Weller, the Lake Ontario end of the canal, and passed through to Lake Erie.

MILLET ALBERTA

When you ask for a certain line of goods, a line which you have seen advertised in newspapers—and you are told "Here is something just as good and cheaper," it is time to do some thinking. If there is more profit in selling goods not advertised and you are buying at a saving, there must be something wrong somewhere—and usually that is loss of quality—something left out that is THERE in the advertised commodity you originally asked for.

It is well to remember that a manufacturer invests his good dollars in advertising space because he knows his product is right. The fact that he advertises in newspapers so that "he who runs may read" is evidence that he knows his claims are right, and that he is ready to stand behind his merchandise and the stores that sell it.
